

Four More Americans Casualties

US Servicemen
Toll Up to 163
In Viet Nam War

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communist guerrillas killed four American servicemen today as the U.S. government made plans for a big boost in its military manpower in South Viet Nam. One of the dead was an Army major, shot to death by a Viet Cong platoon in broad daylight in the middle of a Roman Catholic village 10 miles northwest of Saigon.

Two Army officers and an Air Force man were killed by a mine set off under their jeep as they drove in a convoy of five vehicles on a road 21 miles south of Saigon.

The toll of Americans killed in action in this Communist-menaced nation since December 1961 rose to 163.

Up to 3,000 more American military advisers and training personnel may be sent to swell the U.S. force of about 16,250 already in the country. No extension of the Americans' limited combat role was in prospect, however.

The South Vietnamese government announced the new buildup Monday after a conference between Premier Nguyen Khanh and U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor.

A U.S. spokesman said the arrival of personnel would be gradual, and the number now planned might be changed as circumstances developed.

"This increase in U.S. aid as well as other aid from friendly countries granted at the request of the Vietnamese government should be construed as a warning to the Communists in Hanoi (the capital of North Viet Nam)," Khanh's government said.

Senate 'No' To New Rules On Interests

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has turned down proposed new rules for disclosure of the outside financial interests of its members and top employees.

Instead, it has thrown its support to setting up a 17-member commission to conduct a two-year study of measures to insure high ethical standards among all federal officials.

Establishment of the study commission may come up for a final vote today, although a bill to limit meat imports may be given priority.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, expressing surprise over the turn of events in the Senate Monday night, indicated he wanted to explore the situation before making a decision.

The financial disclosure resolutions that went down to defeat were the outgrowth of the Senate Rules Committee's investigation of the fortune Bobby Baker accumulated while secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority.

The committee recommended a new Senate rule requiring senators and all Senate employees earning over $10,000 a year to disclose annually their major outside financial interests—but not the value of their holdings nor the income derived from them.

Pick Second Gemini Crew

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Capt. James A. McDivitt, 35, of Chicago will become the first of the second generation astronauts to man the command seat in a Gemini spacecraft.

Capt. Edward H. White II, 33, of San Antonio, Tex. will be his copilot.

The surprise announcement of their selection as the crew of the second Gemini spacecraft was made Monday by Paul Haney, Manned Spacecraft Center public affairs officer.

An experienced Project Mercury astronaut had been expected to draw the pilot's assignment but broken bones knocked the older spaceman off the crew.

Maj. L. Gordon Cooper Jr., one of the seven Mercury astronauts, was the only member of

Vows to Reply 'Shot for Shot'

Castro Poke At US

SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro launched a new attack at the United States Monday night, declaring that Cuba will "answer shot for shot" if "another man is murdered" by U.S. Marines at the Guantanamo naval base.

The Cuban prime minister held a 3½-hour news conference for 33 American newsmen visiting Cuba at his invitation and 40 other foreign newsmen who came to Santiago for the celebration of his 26th of July revolutionary movement.

Castro again rejected the U.S. denial of his charge that U.S. Marines killed a Cuban sentry at the Guantanamo border two weeks ago.

"What is important is that we believe and know that this happened and the Soviet Union also knows it," Castro said. "If another of our men is murdered, we will not have another alternative but to answer shot for shot independently of what the American government believes or not."

Police Probe Attack By A Prowler

Police today were probing an incident of a Sedalia woman being accosted by a prowler in her home Monday night, but the department appeared no closer to a solution of such cases than it has been in the past few weeks.

Mrs. Sandra Campbell, 1320 South Brown, told police at 8:05 p.m. Monday night that she was sitting in the front room of her home when she decided to go to the kitchen and get a bottle of milk for one of her children.

As she entered the kitchen, she said, a prowler grabbed her and shoved her against the kitchen table, inflicting scratches on her chest.

The intruder then fled, she reported. Mrs. Campbell obtained a gun which she keeps for protection and fired one shot into the ground outside the house. The prowler, however, had escaped by the time police arrived.

Police investigation revealed a guard chain on the side door of the house and the storm door had been ripped open to gain entrance. Mrs. Campbell told officers, however, that she did not hear any noise before she was encountered in the kitchen.

Police are continuing their investigation, but have only scant leads to aid them. Mrs. Campbell, the wife of Robert Campbell, described the intruder only as tall, better than six feet in height, wearing a wig and dark glasses.

"One difference, though," Mrs. Weber, 36, said, "I've had mine faster. We both had our first child when we were 20, and she was 43 when she had her 14th."

Moon Shot Aloft

4,000 Pictures Job for Ranger

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The Ranger 7 spacecraft was rocketed toward the moon today with the mission of taking several thousand close-up photographs of areas where American astronauts may land in 1969.

An Atlas-Agena rocket blasted into the sky at 11:50 a.m. EST to start the spidery spacecraft on a planned quarter-million-mile journey which hopefully will end six years of frustration for U.S. moon shots.

The great rocket, 104 feet tall and weighing 138 tons, spouted a torrent of red-orange flame and sent a thunderous roar rolling across Cape Kennedy as it barreled away from its launching pad.

The early portion of the flight appeared normal as the big booster pitched over on a south-east heading and streaked from sight after about three minutes.

The shot was postponed Monday when static-like noise developed in a ground transmitter used to send radio commands to the guidance system after the rocket is airborne. The problem was corrected.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration counted on Ranger 7 to end six years of disappointment during which the United States has failed on 12 straight moon shots.

The failures have seriously hampered gathering information to support the Apollo man-to-moon project, which aims at a manned lunar landing late in this decade.

Ranger 7 is to streak 228,522 miles to the moon in 68½ hours and crash-land on the surface Friday morning. As the 806-pound craft approaches the moon, its six television cameras are to take and transmit more than 4,000 closeup pictures.

The flight control center at Goldstone, Calif., hoped to maneuver Ranger 7 to an area west of the moon's center where lighting conditions are most favorable for photography. A prime target was the huge Mare Imbrium, the Sea of Showers.

Apollo planners want pictures of the maria because they appeared sidetracked unexpectedly. (Please turn to page 2, col. 7)

Military Pay Bill Nod By House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Armed Services Committee unanimously approved a bill today providing $207 million in pay raises for all members of the armed services except enlisted men with less than two years of service. It would be the second military pay raise in a year.

The exclusion of new enlisted men from the raise stirred the only controversy in the committee. Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., and others demanded that these men be included.

Schweiker, who said these men were living in poverty, proposed an amendment to give them a pay boost, too, but the committee killed it on a 21-9 vote.

The committee's unanimous action in approving the whole bill virtually guaranteed most servicemen a pay raise by Sept. 1.

The bill is identical to one passed recently by the Senate, and Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, plans to bring it up on the floor next week.

The pay raise would reach servicemen on the first day of the month after the day that the President signs the bill. So, if President Johnson signs the bill in August, the latter pay checks start coming Sept. 1.

The woman, Mildred, 45, had been living on a farm near this southeast Missouri town with a step-child and four grandchildren since her separation a year ago.

Davison lived with his parents in Cardwell, Mo.

Hope Fades For 14 Men Entombed

Listening Device Fails to Detect Any Human Sounds

CHAMPAGNOLE, France (AP)—Hope began to fade today for 14 men entombed for almost 24 hours in a limestone mine in the Jura Mountains of eastern France.

A drill pipe sunk through 128 feet of mud and rock broke through into an intact part of the mine. Rescuers lowered a highly sensitive listening device down the 6-inch tube but heard only the sound of dripping water and falling stones.

Officials said the absence of human sounds was "very disturbing." They said the men would have come to the point where the pipe pierced the mine roof if they were alive and well.

One official said it was possible that the area of the mine under the drill pipe was cut off from where the men were sheltered. But in that case the rescuers face new and formidable difficulties when they break through into the mine.

The drillers had worked through the night at one spot without making a breakthrough. Then they moved the rig several yards up the hill and started again.

The men had been entombed within the 30-mile labyrinth more than 12 hours when sensitive special equipment, flown in by helicopter, caught what seemed to be faint tapping.

The rescue squads were trying to sink a ventilation shaft about 6 inches wide and 65 to 100 feet deep. This would assure a supply of air to the trapped men and would enable surface workers to get messages and food to them.

Scores of tearful relatives and friends stood by as the work went on through the night under floodlights.

The mine burrows deep within the 2,575-foot mound known as Mt. Rivel, a source of limestone for more than a century.

The only entrance to the mine was blocked for more than 1,600 feet by the cave-in.

Country Club Burglars Net About $1,500

Loss is expected to run well over $1,500 as the result of a burglary overnight Monday at the Sedalia Country Club on south Highway 65. Police and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax were cooperating in the investigation today.

Police said entry was gained by forcing a door leading into the basement on the northwest corner of the club. From the club's golf pro shop approximately $1,000 in assorted golfing merchandise was taken along with an estimated $500 in cash.

Several lockers maintained by club members were pried open and an unknown amount of equipment removed. Police said a complete list of this loss would not be known until members can be contacted and an inventory made.

The burglars then pried open a door to the upstairs of the club and forced open a cash register, cigarette vending machine and juke box, obtaining an undetermined amount of money from these sources.

Making the preliminary investigation besides Sheriff Fairfax were Chief of Police William Miller, Sgt. Perry Franklin and Patrolmen Vic Phelps and Clarence Harrell. Police used their fingerprint kit in quest of possible prints left by the burglars.

An employee at the club discovered the burglary and notified police at 8:27 a.m. Tuesday.

By coincidence the Warrensburg Country Club was found broken into early Monday morning, but investigation by Johnson County Sheriff William O. Fortney revealed no loss.

Riot Scene Shocks Rocky

Rochester Violence Labeled 'Extremism'

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Officials of violence-ridden Rochester discussed plans today for a gradual roll-back of restrictive measures imposed on the community during last weekend's rampaging race riots.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller flew to Rochester Monday, made a tour of the riot-torn Negro sections and expressed "shock and great sadness" over what he saw. The city, he said, was the victim of extremism.

Bill to Set Meat Quotas Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to put quotas on imports of meat products into the United States was brought before the Senate by majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., Monday night and Mansfield said he expects passage today after debate.

Mansfield, a chief sponsor of the bill, called it for debate after a proposal to write a financial disclosure rule for Senators was sidetracked unexpectedly.

The Johnson Administration has been strongly opposed to the meat quota plan because it violates U.S. trade policy. But Senate leaders have been under strong pressure from cattle state members and livestock industry groups to bring up the bill.

The Administration has tried to head it off with moves to hike beef consumption and voluntary agreements to limit imports from Australia and other countries.

Guard Units To Ft. Ripley On Friday

National Guardsmen from the two Sedalia units are making last minute preparations for their annual two weeks active duty stint. Both the local Firing Battery and the Group Headquarters will spend 17 days away from home with actual field training at Ft. Ripley, Minnesota.

Approximately 100 enlisted men and officers from the two Sedalia units will leave early Friday morning. Arriving at Camp Ripley Sunday morning after overnight encampments in Iowa and Minnesota enroute to the sprawling National Guard Camp about 100 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

The two local units vary in their intended missions. The local Firing Battery, commanded by Captain Leroy Luchs of Sedalia, remains in the field most of the time firing missions into two impact areas. The Group Headquarters, with Col. Leigh Wilson of Maryville in command, has three artillery firing battalions and the Warrensburg Aviation Company to oversee. The three firing battalions have both 105 and 155 MM guns with men of the First Battalion of the 128th and the 129th Artillery and the Second of the 128th.

The schedule in brief calls for four days and nights in the field with the remainder of the time in the containment area with semi-permanent buildings. Although only four days are called for in the field, most of the troops return throughout the encampment period for training in the field, especially the Firing Batteries which fire daily. The middle weekend is marked by a Division parade with a number of VIP's usually on hand for the review. Awards are made at this time for the outstanding companies and other individual honors.

Both units travel to camp in convoys keeping pace with a schedule already distributed to all drivers. Breaks are called for every hour and rendezvous points established for eating and sleeping purposes. A team of officers early in the spring covered the entire route noting exact mileages and contracting with businesses along the way for perishable foods and gasoline.

Charles Evans Hughes wrote the inscription "Equal Justice Under Law" which appears on the U.S. Supreme Court Building.

Survey to Show Diversity Of Industry In Sedalia

James Van Meter, associate economist for Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City, spoke on the industrial survey which the firm is completing on Sedalia and this area before the Sedalia Rotary Club membership Monday noon at Hotel Bothwell.

Van Meter in his opening remarks stated the completed survey would be ready for delivery to the Chamber of Commerce within a short time — probably next week.

The economist stated, "Economic activity in any community can generally be divided into two categories — basic or export industry, and non basic or supporting industry. Basic industries are those which serve markets outside the community. Non-manufacturing activity serving markets outside the community such as motels and other service establishments catering to tourists are also important basic employers. The supporting industries are those serving the local market, such as the grocery store, the public school, and the local bakery. Of course, many of the activities fall into both categories, since they serve both local and 'export' markets. The gasoline service station which obtains part of its

A Change Unchanged

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A wise Frenchman once noted that the more a thing changes, "the more it is the same thing." It is doubly true of television programs.

Five years ago this reporter made her first trip to the film capital for a pre-season inspection of the fall programs.

There were many, many more Westerns on the schedules. Gene Barry, now one of television's top cops, was the fabled, cane-carrying Bat Masterson; Richard Boone, the heroic Paladin; Hugh O'Brian, Wyatt Earp—shows that gave every promise of going on forever.

"Maverick," a sprightly spoof of the Western was a big hit, and "Gunsmoke" had struck audience gold. "Bonanza" however, then was fighting a losing Nielsen-rating battle with "Perry Mason" on Saturday nights.

The private eyes and the gentlemen adventurers were all over the networks: "Peter Gunn," with Craig Stevens playing television's first truly custom-tailored, sophisticated sleuth.

Craig Stevens will be back in a couple of months, playing an adventure-prone, custom-tailored, sophisticated press agent in CBS' "Mr. Broadway," a change without real change.

The Western, five years ago, was undisputed king of television, but the situation comedy was the vigorous crown prince. There was "Angel," a short-lived reverse switch on "I Love Lucy," "The Ann Southern Show," "The Tab Hunter Show," "Pete and lads," and "Dennis the Menace."

Some, like "Bachelor Father," "The Real McCoys" and "Dobie Gillis," stayed around for several years before expiring of general debility. Others, like "The Donna Reed Show" and "Ozzie and Harriet," are still very much with us. Lucy's show, minus the two husbands and under a new title, is around and people love Lucy as much as ever.

Two-thirds of the programs of five years ago have gone into television's Valhalla—the re-run circuit. Survivors are the strong ones—Red Skelton, Lawrence Welk, Ed Sullivan, Bob Hope, the best of the panel shows.

Looking backward it now appears that the 1960 television season was hardly one of the industry's memorable vintage years. But except for a switch of emphasis and titles, it really doesn't seem to be much different from the menu offered now for September's feast of new programs.

"One of the most important fundamental goals of the development effort is to encourage growth and expansion in the community's basic industry." Van Meter explained expansion in basic industries can occur in several ways:

"1. By expanding the markets served by existing local manufacturers; 2. By increasing the size of the outlying retail trade area or by achieving greater penetration in the existing trade area; 3. By stimulating development of new 'home grown' industries; 4. By attracting new plants to the community; 5. By increasing the amount of supplies and services existing firms purchase locally; and 6. By promoting tourism and tourist-related service activities.

"Sedalia," said Van Meter, "now has a number of firms which serve markets outside the city. The expansion and growth of these operations will probably be the major source of future economic growth for the community. Many of Sedalia's most important manufacturers are producing product lines which can be expected to grow as demand increases."

"Another source of economic growth will be new business operations established by local people which will serve markets outside of the city. Every effort should be made to encourage these local entrepreneurs.

"The hospital in Sedalia is an excellent example of a partially basic service industry which has significant economic impact on the community by providing jobs for over 200 persons. During the last fiscal year, which ended May 31 the Bothwell Hospital paid out salaries amounting to almost $650,000."

It was pointed out by Van Meter that "One of Sedalia's strongest assets for future growth is her existing diversified industrial base. Most of the important industrial categories are represented in this community, with concentration in leather products, apparel, fabricated metals, lumber and wood products, stone, clay, and glass, as well as in the nonmanufacturing sectors of transportation, trade and services.

"Few other Midwestern towns of this size possess the industrial diversity found in Sedalia," emphasized Van Meter. "Thus, Sedalia is already in a more advantageous position than most similar communities whose primary initial goal must be the establishment of a stronger, more diversified industrial base."

In stressing the city's advantages for growth, Van Meter stated "Sedalia's mid-state location between two growing cities is an asset shared by very few communities in the U. S. The community also serves a large rural trade area, is located at the intersection of two principal federal highways, and is on the main lines of two major railroads. These factors provide definite assets for future economic development. Moreover, Sedalia's ready accessibility to Kansas City and St. Louis provides the foundation of a large and growing regional market for Sedalia manufacturers. The two metropolitan areas combined represent a market of 3.5 million people and are also major distribution centers serving large multi-state trade areas.

"Sedalia's proximity to the Ozark recreational areas offers another local advantage. When the Kaysinger dam is completed this conservation project will place Sedalia even closer to major water recreation areas. . . . Ready accessibility to recreational areas provides an attraction to new industry. Another important advantage this offers is a potential market for tourist and recreation-related industries such as boat building and the manufacture of prefabricated vacation cottages. And finally, proximity to vacation areas offers numerous opportunities for the development of service industries based on tourism and recreation."

Van Meter offered two recommendations of 12 which will be given by Midwest Research Institute for Sedalia.

"An Economic Development Commission should be created. The city should hire a full-time professional industrial development officer on the recommendation of the Commission. This body would then aid and advise this officer in order to make his efforts more effective.

"Commercial air transportation service should be brought into Sedalia, and the possibility of using the landing facilities at Whiteman should be explored with the proper authorities. . . . The probability of Sedalia growing is great enough to warrant these two projects."

Van Meter concluded, "We at MRI have supplied the critical eye of an objective third party, but now you as the business and community leaders must decide upon a specific plan of action and implement it to make this community grow."

The speaker was introduced by Sam Boyle, executive manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce. Boyle was presented by Dave Martin, who served as program chairman.

Guests presented by P. E. Milster were: Paul Farby, Rotarian of Booneville, Mo.; Ralph Jennings, Rotarian from Jefferson City; James Taylor, Rotarian from Raytown; Dr. E. H. Van Dyke, Sedalia, guest of Omer West; Charles Leftwich and J. H. Bagby, Sedalia, guests of Mike O'Connor and Claude Boul, guest of his son, Firman.

Invocation was given by Kirk McCrary, Aubrey Case led in group singing with Mrs. Lillian Maynard at the piano. Omer West, president, presided.

Growing Up As Pitfall For 'Dennis'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Considering the plight of Jay North—12 years old and making a comeback.

Jay is the bright-faced lad who starred for four years as "Dennis the Menace" in the popular television series. A year ago the show faded from the air, the victim of lagging ratings and its star's continuing growth. It became a bit difficult to have Jay portray the stubby, mischief-making preschooler when he was obviously pushing toward puberty.

What happened after the show was dropped?

"Oh, I did a 'Wagon Train' and some other shows," he said. "And a lot of personal appearances, too."

Now he's back in movies and starring in "Zebra in the Kitchen," another film from animal lover Ivan Tors, producer of "Flipper" and "Rhino." This time Tors is unleashing the entire zoo, or at least Jay is.

The movie has been a ball for Jay, who is crazy about animals. It also might open a whole new career for the lad. He was musing about career matters at his Studio City house after a day's work.

"I really like acting," he commented earnestly. "I love it, in fact. I'd like to go on acting until I get old and die."

But what about astronomy and baseball?

"Oh, I wanted to be an astronomer last week," he admitted. "and a baseball player the week before. But what I really want to do is go on acting. I like everything about it."

Everything?

"Well, sometimes I don't like it so well when directors get tired and cranky," he replied. "But even when the directors are sad it's still more fun than anything."

With "Dennis the Menace" dropped, Jay is now spared one ignominy: he no longer must have his hair bleached to match the tow-headed troublemaker. He has let it grow back to its natural shade, sort of apricot-colored.

California to Build New Power Substation

California City Council recently authorized building a new 1,000 kilowatt substation on the industrial development tract in the east part of California.

During the past several weeks there have been numerous power failures on various overloaded lines throughout parts of California. The new station is expected to take care of the city's kilowatt distribution problems for the next few years.

What to do until an emergency happens

Emergencies have practically no sense of fair play. And almost always pick the worst possible time to happen.

People seem to prefer the day your insurance lapses to trip on your sidewalk, for example.

And the ear usually waits until your bank account registers empty before demanding expensive repairs.

There's no fighting it. But you can be ready. By tucking away some reserve funds in U.S. Savings Bonds. Bonds, themselves, are emergency proof. You can't lose the money you invest in them, even if fire, flood, robbers or plain carelessness causes you to lose the Bonds.

And when something expensive happens, you can just take them in to any bank and get yourself solvent again.

In the meantime, Uncle Sam uses your Bond dollars to handle other urgent matters, like taking care of your freedom.

Buy Bonds where you bank or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Get yourself really prepared and you might even discourage a few emergencies from ever happening.

Heard on Ohio Avenue

Overheard on Ohio avenue, especially at the Third street intersection, are some unusual remarks when conversationalists seem to be unaware others are listening.

One of those hot afternoons shortly after the rotating time-temperature sign was erected on the corner of the Third National Bank building, someone tried to explain to a white-haired individual what it was all about.

"Yes, yes, I understand," he finally replied, "but my goodness — look — the temperature is 223 degrees and the time 97 o'clock!"

Then there was the woman looking at merchandise in one of the Ohio avenue department stores on Monday night. She told the clerk she was just looking and even if she did find something she wanted she wouldn't buy it on Monday night because she didn't believe in the stores staying open on Monday night.

So, there! Thanks to Les Tinear.

The hot weather calls for something in the lighter vein as noted above, yet apropos is a serious Ohio avenue comment on a condition that too often is repeated by motorists on Sedalia streets.

This is the practice of drivers ignoring approach of emergency vehicles whose sirens are sounding loud enough to be heard a mile.

Some drivers pull over to the curb and stop, but too many others keep on going at their usual pace. In many instances fire trucks and ambulances are thus put to the hazardous task of weaving in an out of moving traffic.

Now not everyone can pull over to a parking spot when other parked cars block the way, especially downtown. But in the residential district there are plenty of openings for a brief park-stop while the fire trucks or ambulances pass.

Regardless of whether the law requires a motorist to pull over to the curb and stop, giving emergency vehicles unimpeded right-of-way is plain courtesy. Certainly it is a definite safety factor.

Voluntary compliance is more desirable than to have a patrolman pull alongside with the suggestion: "Pull over to the curb, Herb, you heard me!"

U.S. Boycotts Castro, Feeds Nasser

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — While the Pan-American foreign ministers were voting sanctions against Fidel Castro in Cuba the United States was in the ironic position of supporting with millions of dollars in wheat another dictator who has been even more effective than Castro in opposing U. S. policies — namely Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

President Nasser has seized all American property in Egypt just as Castro did in Cuba. He has socialized industry just as Castro did. And he has waged a vicious, subversive campaign against American interests all around the Near East. They have been far more successful than Castro's campaign against Venezuela and other U. S. friends in the Caribbean.

Despite this, American aid to Nasser is more than the Russian contribution to building the Aswan Dam. It totals $418,100,000 since 1955.

It was in 1956 that Russia decided to start building the Aswan Dam. Since that time the Soviet has loaned Egypt a little over $250,000,000, all of which is in the form of a credit and must be paid back.

The American contribution to Nasser is in the form of grain paid for in Egyptian currency which is left in the country. It amounts to almost a gift. Sixty per cent of all wheat used in Egypt comes from the United States. And this food helps pay for Nasser's propaganda campaign against the United States.

Nasser's Anti-U. S. Campaign

Here is what he is doing:

1. — While the Republican party was meeting in San Francisco, nobody noticed that the Libyan Foreign Minister, Hussayn Maaziq, visited Cairo and promised Nasser to throw Americans out of the Wheelus Air Force Base at Tripoli. This is the biggest bomber base we have outside the U. S. A. and our lease does not expire until 1967. However, the Libyan government, as a result of Nasser's prodding, is urging us to get out earlier.

2. — Nasser is also putting the heat on Emperor Haile Selassie in Ethiopia to cancel the U. S. communications base at Kag on the Red Sea. This is the most important foreign communications base we have. It's essential for tracking satellites. So far Haile Selassie has refused to budge, but Nasser is now accusing him of being a colonialist.

Castro, incidentally, has tried to get our bases canceled in Panama and Guantanamo but has not succeeded.

3. — Nasser has received arms from Russia just as Castro has — though considerably more. He is now sending surplus arms to Somalia in order to stir up guerrilla warfare against our good friend, Ethiopia. This is what Castro has tried to do by shipping arms to Venezuela and Brazil though he has not succeeded.

The United States has had to supply Ethiopia with arms to combat this warfare. Thus, we are supplying wheat to Egypt, which helps pay indirectly for arms to Somalia; and then we have to send arms to Ethiopia to combat Nasser's arms.

4. — American wheat is also going to help pay for 40,000 Egyptian troops kept in Yemen. This is an attempt by Nasser to win control of Saudi Arabia and the American oil properties there, just as Castro tried to penetrate Venezuela in order to control U. S. oil properties in that country.

Biting The Hand That Feeds

The radio propaganda campaign against the United States in this Red Sea area is vicious — so much so that the Yemen republic recently apologized to the American Embassy.

The attacks occurred at the same time the United States was helping Yemen construct new roads, build a water purification plant and supply other economic aid; and Yemen officials made it clear that the Egyptians controlled the press and radio through their 40,000 troops and there was nothing Yemen could do about the anti-American tirades.

5. — While President Nasser does not want war with Israel now, he is paying German technicians and scientists to develop modern rockets and, he hopes, nuclear weapons. American wheat indirectly is helping to pay for the cost of these ex-Nazis.

All this raises a serious question in the minds of our allies. They wonder why the United States continues to subsidize a dictator who follows exactly the same policies as Castro and is more effective in carrying them out.

The French and British, for instance, are still smarting over Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal and Eisenhower's preemptory demand that their troops withdraw. This is one reason the French and British consider their policy of selling buses and trucks to Castro is no more inconsistent than our giving wheat to Nasser.

It's argued that if the United States did cut off American wheat, Nasser would make some drastic moves such as he did in 1956 when he seized the Suez Canal after John Foster Dulles withdrew U. S. promises to help build the Aswan Dam.

It's true that Nasser is ruthless and unpredictable. However, at the present moment he cannot buy wheat any place else in the world. Possibly he can next year. The Russian harvest may then be better.

Furthermore, he can't attack Israel successfully now. Israel is too well armed.

When in Israel I queried Israeli leaders as to whether they were worried over a Nasser attack. They are not — at least not until he develops the modern rockets on which the ex-Nazi scientists are working, which we are helping to pay for.

Boiling Presidential Race Looms

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—From the way President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater have been talking, you can get the impression the presidential campaign is going to be on a high plane, more or less. But this may not last long since neither man can predict or control the future.

Goldwater himself, in the midst of saying he would not make any personal attacks on Johnson and would campaign solely on the issues, told a news conference: "Oh, I think you'll find some brickbats flying around all over the place."

And Johnson is apparently prepared for anything that happens, while so far being bland about it all, for he told a news conference: "Most campaigns are rough campaigns and I'm an old campaigner. I've been at it 30 years."

This gives him more than twice the campaign experience of Goldwater because he was in Congress more than twice as long.

He never batted an eye—in public, that is—to Goldwater's charge that he is a "faker" and a "phony" and seemed to be trying to brush aside any thought he might retaliate in kind.

He said of his 30 years of campaigning: "One of the first things I learned—at least, as far as I'm concerned—the people are not much interested in my personal opinion of my opponent."

"The American people will make their judgments on the very statements that he may make from time to time."

There are plenty of other Democrats around to fling brickbats if Johnson won't, although it remains to be seen if he won't, particularly if Goldwater flings them.

And if Goldwater won't, his running mate for the vice presidency, Rep. William E. Miller of New York, probably will since Miller has been described as a "guy fighter," a "wiry rooster" with "nothing namby-pamby about him."

It can't be forgotten that Goldwater said one of the main issues in the campaign is the "scandal hanging over the White House." Somebody, if not Goldwater, is going to have to talk about it, since he called it an issue.

If a guess had to be made, this seems the likely one: this is going to be rougher than any campaign in memory if only because the intensity of feeling among Americans themselves seems so deep.

There was hardly deep feeling among voters over the 1960 race between Sen. John F. Kennedy and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. They weren't so far apart in their views. It was a personality contest.

It marks the most clear-cut division—which is what Goldwater said he wanted to provide anyway — between American conservatives and those of more liberal views and between those who are against big government and those who consider it a necessity in the middle of the 20th Century.

The lines have already hardened on both sides and if anyone doubts it all he has to do is talk to a dozen people and listen to the intensity of their feelings.

There was no such intensity before or even during the two campaigns between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai E. Stevenson.

In addition to this all the unpredictable — like the turn of events at home and abroad, particularly if they're violent — could make this whole campaign boil.

Dialogue from Washington

By VERA CLAY

President Lyndon B. Johnson set the tone of his political campaign at his press conference this week.

It will be sweet reasonableness all of the way. The President is not going to get tainted with any name-calling from his exalted spot in the White House.

He will present the issues, and a program while he puts his best foot forward. Senator Barry Goldwater, in the most triumphant mood, was received at the White House to discuss the civil rights issue.

It is quite clear that the President plans to approach this campaign from Olympian heights and not as President of the United States allow the dignity of the office to be even slightly tarnished by partisan politics.

We have all seen and read what the President had to say at this major press conference. It was heartening to realize that the office of the Presidency will not be dragged through any mud-slinging. The President will leave this task to others. This is as it should be.

The President looked well, spoke well and behaved as though Barry Goldwater, his old colleague and friend from his Senate days, was a fair and good competitor.

His intention is to face the civil rights issue fairly and squarely. He will not sweep it under any carpets, nor will it be suffocated by extremists or racists. The courts, not the streets, is where the issue finally will have to be resolved is his philosophy. On the other hand, he told the country he would rebuff bigotry.

We the Women

By Ruth Millett
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once upon a Time —

If a husband and wife seemed to need only each other, we described them as a "devoted couple." Now, they are referred to as "loners."

If a woman stayed home and looked after her children she was known as a "good mother." Now, other women say she shirks her community responsibilities.

If a man didn't think or talk or act just like his neighbors, we said he was an "individual" or at worst "a character." Now, we call him an "oddball."

If a person didn't go along with the popular viewpoint we said he was an "independent thinker." Now, such a person is labeled an extremist — or worse.

If a husband and father liked his own fireside better than any other place we said he was a "family man." Now, if he shuns big parties he is regarded as "antisocial."

A person who trusted in his own judgment and, once he had set a course stayed with it, was called "determined." Today, he is dismissed as "bullheaded."

A man who didn't put himself out to impress others or talk when he didn't have anything to say was described as "dignified" or "reserved." Now, he "isn't able to communicate with others" or "lacks personality."

No wonder most of us try hard to conform nowadays. The words for those who are in any way different from the crowd are usually not the kind of words we would like for anyone to use in describing us.

'Chain' Links Family

by Polly Cramer,
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY —

Since our mother's death in 1926, we five children have kept in touch with each other by what we call "chain letter."

Since our ages range from 74 to 86 and we live miles apart, from California to Ohio to Florida, it would be quite an effort for us to each write individually to all the others. This way we hear from each other at least once a month and often enclose snapshots of our children and grandchildren. Keeping this family relationship alive has brought us great pleasure. Can anyone beat our record of 38 years?—MRS. W. B.

DEAR POLLY — Have you ever written with a fountain pen that stained your fingers? My pointer for preventing this is very simple. I find that if the sponge part of a sponge hair curler (with a hole in the center) is slipped over the part of the pen near the point there is no stain problem. It also prevents those callouses that come from writing for long periods of time.—M.A.L.

DEAR POLLY — Rather than haul my toddler's toys into the house from our fenced-in yard each day, I bought a 20-gallon trash can with a lid to hold even the long handled toys. This can be left in a corner of the yard, the toys are protected from the weather and the yard looks neat. When the youngster is old enough to bring toys in himself, the can will be used for the purpose it was intended.—CAROLYN

DEAR POLLY — So many children's jackets come lined with a pile fabric at the top and quilted rayon material on the lower part. The pile holds up under hard wear but often the rayon does not. I purchased a dark plaid cotton flannel material and completely covered the rayon in my children's jackets. It wears well, is warmer and does not show the soil.—MRS. H.J.P.

DEAR POLLY — To keep the dust off clothing hanging in a closet, cut open one side of a plastic dry cleaning bag and hang it over the rod and the clothing that is on the hangers.

● To remove the price marking on a box that is to be used for a gift cover the marking with cellophane tape, rub over it with the back of a fingernail and then remove the tape. The price mark will come off right along with the tape.—MRS. R. W.

THE YOUNG WOMAN

Two small children look at a washing on the line, most of them starched things that must be ironed. They're they were to be sprinkled and rolled for the ironing. What a job that would be. So what did she do? She picked up the hose, turned it to a mere spray and sprinkled her wash right on the line. When she took them in all she had to do was roll them and leave them until she was ready to iron.—H. L.

A RAVINE RUNS along thru a residential addition and the little youngsters have a big time fishing for the crawdads in the water. Sometimes they fish practically all day and many of them are little more than toddlers.

Their fishing equipment consists of a pole, string and safety-pin, with a piece of bacon fastened to the safety-pin. And they have an assortment of cans and buckets for their catch.

One day recently one of the women in the neighborhood saw one of the little boys with the bacon on his safety-pin wrapped in plastic. She couldn't understand why he had the plastic wrap on it, so she asked the mother.

"Oh," replied the mother, "did he not take the wrap off? He came in and wanted some bacon. I gave him a strip and then I took another strip, put the wrap on it so he could put it in his pocket."

When he got to the second strip he just took it out of his pocket, put it on the safety-pin without ever bothering to take the wrap off and sat there with it dangling from the string, expecting the crawdads to come along and nibble. And probably wondered why they didn't.—H. L.

Young Negro Hoodlums Take a Militant Attitude

EDITOR'S NOTE—The nation has often seen disciplined, well-behaved Negro youths take part in civil rights demonstrations. But the riots in New York and Rochester have brought a different breed to the fore: Young men who heed no leader, follow no banner, and seem to despise non-violence. Here is a closeup of the hard ones.

By BERNARD GAVZER
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—An exhausted fireman felled by heavy smoke was wheeled from a flaming house in Rochester's riot-wrecked Negro section.

"He should have got burned up long ago," a Negro boy said. Here in the brilliant sunshine of a Sunday afternoon the boy and hundreds of other Negroes had watched a gruesome drama.

A helicopter being used to spot potential riot activity had hit the peaked gable of the frame house, fallen to the sidewalk, exploded and burned. The white pilot was killed. Two persons in the house, presumably Negroes, burned to death.

For some in the crowd, the spectacle was sickening and sobering. They were mainly older people. A minister, a chef, a mechanic. But the young fellows, the lean and well-muscled teen-agers and men in their early 20s, shed no tears.

Their attitude throughout rioting that began Friday night has been one of militant recklessness. There is a bravado to them—and the chill quality of boys who have begun to believe that life is a one way road to death and they are on it, put there by white men.

The role of young Negroes in Rochester parallels that of those

Public Service Newspapers Are 'On the Rise'

NEW YORK (AP)—Prof. John Hohenberg of Columbia University, secretary to the advisory board on the Pulitzer prizes, says "the public service newspaper, so deeply conscious of its social responsibility, is on the rise."

He says the outpouring of public service journalism evident during this year's Pulitzer prize season "is a testimonial to the ever-deepening commitment of the responsible American press to the protection of the public interest."

Hohenberg's remarks are contained in an article entitled "Public Service: A 1964 Honor Roll" appearing in the current issue of the Columbia Journalism Review, published by the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism.

The trustees of Columbia University award the Pulitzer prizes in journalism and in other fields of arts and letters each year on recommendations by the advisory board. The prizes were founded by a grant from the late newspaper publisher Joseph Pulitzer.

Hohenberg, secretary of the board since 1954 and a professor at the school of journalism since 1949, said in the article that editors and publishers who are satisfied "to print a little news, a lot of stale entertainment, and whatever advertising they can hustle... are on the way out."

He surveyed the public service programs and campaigns of newspapers during the past year and praised the work of 49 newspapers besides those which won Pulitzer prizes last May.

He described outstanding exhibits submitted in the past Pulitzer prize season and said:

"In a responsible American newspaper campaign in 1964, the heaviest public service emphasis is likely to be on the progress of integration, on better government, and on better schools, accompanied by a deepening concern over the administration of public institutions and the conduct of public officials. Beyond purely local or national interests, there is a small but developing body of investigatory reporting of foreign affairs and public service presentations of background materials based on foreign policy decisions.

Among papers the professor said presented outstanding exhibits of public service were: St. Louis Post-Dispatch and the Kansas City Star.

Humphrey Is Choice For Veep

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is the favorite for the Democratic vice presidential nomination among Missouri convention delegates who responded to an Associated Press poll.

Thirty of the 38 delegates reached in the survey said they will vote for anybody President Johnson wants for his running mate.

Asked for a personal preference, 11 of the 38 — including Gov. John M. Dalton — named Humphrey.

Three said they would favor Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps. Others named Sens. Stuart Symington and Edward V. Long of Missouri; Gov. Dakon; Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy; Adlai Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations; Buford Ellington, former governor of Tennessee; Sen. Frank Lausche of Ohio; Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine; and Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota.

Missouri will be entitled to 58 votes at the Democratic National Convention in Atlantic City, starting Aug. 24. These will be distributed among 78 delegates, 38 with full votes and 40 with half votes.

Delegates reached in the survey represent 27 convention votes. Other delegates did not respond or could not be reached. Delegates who named Humphrey as their preference for vice president have 8½ votes. Those naming Shriver have 2½.

Gov. Dalton, a full-vote delegate at large, listed as reasons for favoring Humphrey that the Minnesotan is "liberal — from northern U.S.A. — works well with Johnson — has good record in Senate."

Dalton indicated he will support anybody President Johnson chooses, but this was not the case with some other Humphrey supporters.

David M. Grant, a half-vote delegate from St. Louis—commented: "While I believe Johnson will make a choice I can support x x x I could not hand out a blank check that could come up with a Wallace, Faubus or Barnett."

Grant apparently referred to Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas, and former Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi.

Another delegate who declined to give Johnson a blank ballot specified "not Humphrey." That was Michael Kinney, a full-vote delegate from St. Louis. Kinney favors Lausche.

Some of the other delegates responded this way:

Denton Smith, full-vote delegate from Springfield—"I'm a free, white American citizen. I would like to go along with the President, but I would not say I would vote for just anyone." Smith said he prefers Humphrey, adding: "I could write a book of the reasons why. The world knows about him. He's progressive, forward-looking, intelligent."

Former state Sen. Frank X. Reller, a full-vote delegate from Wentzville — favors Symington for the vice presidential nomination "because of his long experience, both in the executive and legislative branches of the government, and his keen knowledge of domestic and foreign affairs."

Bill D. Burlison, a full-vote delegate from Cape Girardeau—originally favored Mayor Robert Wagner of New York but later wrote: "Due to recent explosive Burlison said he would go along with the President in general, but "if Sen. Symington or Gov. Dalton receive serious consideration, my support would be with them."

Office Suggestion Boxes Disappearing From Scene

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Some years ago many business firms started the custom of putting up suggestion boxes.

The thought was that the company would benefit from practical tips from its employees—and that the morale of employees would benefit, too, from the flattering knowledge that management was humbly seeking their help.

"After all, we're a team," the announcement on the bulletin board usually read, "and a team wins with the ideas of all its players."

So the bright new suggestion boxes, born of high hopes, bloomed in thousands of offices throughout the land.

Over the years in many offices a certain realistic cynicism replaced the earlier enthusiastic idealism.

The boxes began to contain fewer and fewer worthwhile suggestions. They became more and more reservoirs of complaints, office gossip, and wasteful remarks.

Many a boss quit opening the suggestion box after discovering the most popular suggestion was, "Why don't you resign, Big Daddy? What this outfit needs is fresh brains at the top."

Today many a company head has washed his hands of the problem of the suggestion box. He often leaves it to be opened by a junior executive in the personnel department.

And that young man, if he bothers to read the missives at all, is likely to find the box contains such familiar material:

Twelve wads of chewing gum left their surreptitiously by the office boy.

Ninety-seven pieces of wadded up carbon paper.

An unsigned note in feminine handwriting: "If you don't stop that smarty in the supply department from pinching me black and blue every time I go there to get some paper clips, I'm going to call the police."

An anonymous note saying, "Why is it we never get anything but blueberry pie in the company cafeteria? Does the boss own a blueberry farm on the side?"

Another anonymous note saying, "Why is it whenever I go to the cafeteria the blueberry pie is always gone? All there is left is chocolate pie, and I'm allergic to chocolate."

"I take this way of telling you—as I've told you 14 times in person," reads a message from the office grouch, "that it has been 13 years since I've had a merit raise. Are they going out of style? I'm tired of doing everybody else's work around here, and getting no credit for it."

The box also contains such oddments as 68 torn executive memos, 37 broken pencil stubs,

WHAT KIND OF NEIGHBOR IS CITIES SERVICE GAS COMPANY?

CITIES SERVICE GAS COMPANY
FIRST NATIONAL BUILDING
OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLAHOMA
July 28, 1964

K. E. CRENSHAW
PRESIDENT

Dear Friends:

Most of our previous 'open letters' have dealt with facts and figures concerning the delivery of a dependable and economical supply of natural gas to your local gas company. Perhaps you would like to know in what other ways we serve your area.

Cities Service Gas Company -- as a corporate citizen -- considers it both a privilege and a responsibility to contribute to the welfare and progress of the 400 communities which we serve.

In many counties, the Company is among the highest taxpayers in the area. These taxes help build schools, roads, hospitals and other essential community facilities. And Company payrolls, of course, help support the local economy.

Furthermore, we urge all employees to participate in civic affairs and work for the betterment of the communities in which they live. Many of them have given generously of their time and talents in behalf of their home-towns.

At Cities Service Gas Company we insist on safety as a 'way of life' -- both on the job and at home. Last year Company drivers won a national safety award by having one of the lowest accident-frequency ratios in the industry. And training in first aid equips employees for responsible action in case of emergencies.

These are but a few of the many ways that the Company and its employees share in community responsibility. Although our primary objective is to provide a plentiful and dependable supply of natural gas to the communities served by our system, we also take pride in being good neighbors.

In future letters I will continue to keep you informed on matters affecting your gas service. In addition I will explain in greater detail Company policies with respect to employees, customers and neighbors.

Sincerely,
K. E. Crenshaw

Jefferson City 10 West Plains 0

The nightcap game of the tournament was won by the 1963 defending champions, the Jefferson City Red Birds who defeated the West Plains Blues by a score of 10 to 0. The win moved the Red Birds out to the semi-finals to meet the winner of the Sedalia-Bolivar game which will be played Tuesday night.

The big first Inning rally for the Red Birds upset the West Plains pitchers and the Birds put on a real defensive game to keep the Blues from scoring. As a result of collecting 10 runs to none for West Plains the 10-run lead rule went into effect and the game was called at the bottom of the sixth inning.

The Birds rally in the opening inning came off of a double, a single, three doubles and a home run. The inning went like this: Don Vache hit a long drive to deep right center for a double. Ray Scott singled through short and Vache scored. Ray Uriarte made a two-baser out of an infield hit and Scott held up at third. Dave Smith flied out to center field on a sacrifice scoring Scott. Jerry Buescher struck out. Butch Waggoner hit a double to right center scoring Uriarte. Taylor dropped one in right field for two bases scoring Wagner. Jim Pace stepped to the plate and rapped a long drive over the left field fence at about the 330 foot mark for a home run and scoring Taylor ahead of him. Bill Chism popped to right field.

Six runs, six hits and no errors. A three base hit to the left-centerfield corner of the ball park was made by Buescher, and an error on Garth Yarnell accounted for the lone run for the Birds in the third inning.

One run, one hit and one error. Two more runs were collected in the fifth inning after two outs had been made. Jim Taylor singled through second. Pace singled to centerfield and Taylor held up at second. Chism set a sharp single to centerfield scoring Taylor. Vache was safe on Ron Hampton's error in left field and Pace scored. Scott struck out to end the inning.

Two runs, three hits, one error. The game was "bottled" in the sixth when Uriarte singled to centerfield. A balk by pitcher Bill Perkins moved Uriarte to second. Smith walked and stole second. Buescher popped to the catcher. Waggoner up and with a strike and two balls, Uriarte made a dash for the plate and stole home for the tenth run of

Challenges Big Three

New Forces Being Felt

In the World of Big Golf

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional golf's Big Three, which Jack Nicklaus a year ago threatened to convert into a Big Me, suddenly has developed into a Big We.

It's no longer just a trio at the top of the rich and rugged fairway game—it's a crowd.

The four major pro championships of 1964 now have been decided and of the so-called Big Three—Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player—only Palmer, the Masters winner, came away with one of the choice plums.

Nicklaus, although the season's leading money collector, went 0-for-4 and failed to qualify for the $100,000 World Series of Golf, which he had won two years in a row. Player never seriously threatened in any of the four big championships.

New forces are making themselves felt in bigtime golf. New faces—one of them, at least, an old face re-emerging from the shadows of obscurity—have moved in to challenge Nicklaus, Palmer and Player.

One of them is the lean, serious face of Ken Venturi, 33, who slew the ghosts of past failures and frustrations in winning the U.S. Open last month in Washington's stifling heat.

Another is the puckish face of Champagne Tony Lema, 30, conqueror of cranky, old St. Andrews in his first try in the British Open and the most colorful figure the sport has produced since Walter Hagen.

A third is the fresh, baby face of Bobby Nichols, 28, who performed golfing miracles for four days in leading the PGA Championship through every round. He captured the imagination of the nation by the way he stood off the constant pressure of Palmer and Nicklaus.

As winners of major championships, Venturi, Lema and Nichols qualify to oppose Palmer, an old hand, in the scramble for the $50,000 first prize in the World Series of Akron, Sept. 12-13.

"This is very healthy for golf generally," said Jim Gaquin, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers Association, discussing the even distribution of the four big titles.

"The emergence of the so-called Big Three did a lot to stimulate the game and we can't knock it. But it created an awkward situation.

"Sponsors began to feel that their tournaments were a failure if they couldn't get Palmer, Nicklaus and Player—or at least one of them. The players on the tour became a little upset. They felt that there were any number of men capable of winning the big tournaments and that too much publicity was given the Big Three.

"This year's developments

In the World of Big Golf

NEW YORK (AP)—Professional golf's Big Three, which Jack Nicklaus a year ago threatened to convert into a Big Me, suddenly has developed into a Big We.

It's no longer just a trio at the top of the rich and rugged fairway game—it's a crowd.

The four major pro championships of 1964 now have been decided and of the so-called Big Three

Two Extra Innings In Girls Softball

Two extra innings were needed to decide the winner in the girls' Khourey softball league Monday. The Comets bested the Crickets, 22-19.

Alana Green put on a performance for the Comets, slugging three homers. The first was in the second with none on; the second was in the third with the bases loaded; and the third was in the fourth with two on.

For the Crickets, Stacey Morris homered in the third with none on, as did Linda Mills in the fourth with the bases loaded.

Miss Green was credited with the win, striking out 12 Crickets batters. Miss Morris took the loss for the Crickets, also with 12 strike-outs.

Goldpanners Tops

WICHITA (AP)—The Fairbanks, Alaska Goldpanners have been seeded No. 1 in the Non-Pro National Baseball Tournament which starts here Aug. 14.

Terry Shuts Out Angels; Cincy Wins

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Suddenly they can't score against Ralph Terry.

Just a few weeks ago, they—the New York Yankees' opposition—couldn't keep from scoring, particularly in crucial situations.

Terry, a right-handed veteran, came through a personally crucial situation Monday night like Perry Mason sails through court cases.

Making his first start since June 10 when he last won, Terry pitched his first shutout of the season as the Yankees stopped the Los Angeles Angels 3-0 and increased their American League lead to one game.

Cincinnati bombed Milwaukee 11-2 in the National League in the only other game played.

Terry, now 3-8, shut out the Angels on seven hits, not letting a runner get past second base. The performance sent his earned run average to 5.18, the first time it has been under 6.00 since mid-May.

Terry received all of the support he needed from Elston Howard and Roger Maris. Howard doubled home Tom Tresh and Joe Pepitone, who had singled, in the second. Maris clouted his 15th homer in the third.

Fred Newman suffered his fourth setback against eight victories, giving up five hits in seven innings.

Jim Maloney pitched and helped bat the Reds to their victory under Coach Dick Sisler. Sisler took over for Manager Fred Hutchinson, who remained in Cincinnati for further hospital tests. Hutchinson is suffering from chest cancer.

Maloney scattered six hits, picking up his 10th triumph in 19 decisions. He singled in the first run of a five-run fifth inning and batted in another run with an eighth-inning sacrifice fly. He also singled in the fifth.

Denis Menke homered for the Braves while Deron Johnson and Marty Keough connected for Cincinnati. Keough's blast coming with one on.

Added to Staff

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Charles Wright, two-time All Missouri Valley Conference performer while playing with Wichita State University 1960-1962, has been added to the WSU coaching staff as assistant line coach.

He started 31 consecutive games for the WSU team as a guard, including the 1961 Sun Bowl game.

He served last year as a graduate assistant coach in football.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—A coroner's jury ruled Monday that the death of Marsha Cassidy, 4, was caused by a fire started by her mother.

The child was burned to death last Thursday at her home. Two brothers were injured.

Mrs. Patricia Cassidy, 32, was charged with first degree murder. She is in the psychiatric ward of a Springfield hospital.

To Dedicate Season To Team Mates

RENSSELAER, Ind. (AP)—The Chicago Bears, defending National Football League champions, have dedicated the 1964 season to teammates Willie Galimore and John (Bo) Farrington, who were killed in an automobile accident Sunday night.

Owner-Coach George Halas suggested to his squad in training at St. Joseph's College this would be the greatest honor which could be bestowed upon them. The players pledged to carry it through.

Galimore, a halfback and one of the most feared runners in the league, and Farrington, a pass-catching end, were fatally injured when thrown from their skidding small car on a country road two miles west of camp.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning with all the Bears and coaches in attendance, as well as Galimore's widow, Audrey, who arrived from their home in Tallahassee, Fla.

She has three children, Ronnie, 7, Fawngrita, 5, and Marlon, 4.

Farrington's widow, Vivian, was in such a state of shock in Houston that she could not travel. They were married last March.

The bodies will be sent to their home cities for burial.

The Bears were so stunned by the tragedy that all seemed in a daze Monday. A light workout was held in the afternoon with the players going through the motions like robots.

The arrow-pointing sign reading "curve" had been knocked down on the L-shaped turn of the asphalt strip called Bunkum Road, where the accident occurred.

It had been placed against a wire fence at the side of the road, which cuts through cornfields, and could not be seen by an approaching car.

"The sign had been down two weeks," said Mrs. Alan Fleming, whose farm home is at the curve.

Monday afternoon it was set up again.

Police Reports

A subject made off with a garden hose from 2511 Margaret about 2:30 a.m. Sunday and discarded the hose in the 1800 block of West Fifth.

Police returned the hose to the owners, but were unable to catch the thief. He apparently wanted the hose in a hurry as police reported the hose was cut rather than disconnected from the faucet.

Lawyer New Commander For Legion

MARYVILLE, Mo. (AP)—A lawyer who spent several years with the FBI as agent and inspector is the new commander of the Missouri Department of the American Legion.

Frank H. Strong of Maryville was elected to head the department Sunday at the annual convention in Kansas City.

Strong, who through his FBI work knows the extent of subversive groups, says he feels the legion must continue in its dedicated role as a service and patriotic organization.

He said it must push a positive Americanism program in communities, state and nation, particularly among the young people. He said he feels the Legion must expand youth activities in such fields as Boys State and Nation, Junior American Legion baseball and sponsorship of Boy Scout troops and Scouting's program of youth development.

Strong, 44, stepped into the top post from West Missouri Legion vice commander. He previously had served two terms as judge advocate of the department.

He also has served in the National Security Council of the Legion for several years and is past commander of the James Edward Gray Post here.

A native of Maryville, he was graduated from Maryville high school; Northeast Missouri State College and then got his law degree from Georgetown University in Washington, D.C.

He served with the Navy in World War II and after the war joined the FBI. He served with it until 1954, when he returned to Maryville to form a law partnership with Harold Hull.

He served as president of the Maryville School board and as chairman of the city's zoning and planning committee and is now attorney for the city.

He is married and has one son, Frank H. Jr., 13.

I AM MOVING

Ann Landers

Answers
Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I did what I thought was right and now I am in Dutch with the people I sit for. Please publish my letter and your advice.

I'm a teen-ager who sits for a nice family. They have four children. Maybe I am a fraidy cat but I never open the door for anyone. After all, I don't know all the friends and relatives of the people I work for. Chances are about one in a million that I might let in an intruder but I don't want to take that one chance.

The other night a man rang the doorbell. He had a suitcase in his hand, and said he was a brother-in-law. I refused to let him in the house. He was awfully mad at me because he had to sit in his car for two hours.

When the Mr. and Mrs. finally came home they were furious with me. They said I should have known from looking at the man he was "perfectly O.K." What do you think about this?—CHICKEN

Dear Chicken: I think you're the kind of girl I'd like to have as a sitter for my granddaughter.

The first rule a sitter should learn is never to open the door for anyone. It's not possible to tell by looking whether a person is "perfectly O. K." The folks for whom you work should have praised you for your good judgment—and given you a bonus in the bargain.

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the woman who wrote about the deaf-mute who went around selling packets of needles for 50 cents.

I work in the department of Health, Education and Welfare in the area of vocational rehabilitation and I can tell you there is no justification for any deaf person operating as a beggar.

To Get Back Land

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Kenya's ex-Mau Mau terrorists are to get back the land confiscated from them under British colonial rule during the eight years of their antiwhite activity, the government announced. Seven hundred ex-Mau Maus already have made land claims.

gar, peddling his disability. Generally speaking, deaf people have normal strength, mobility and intelligence.

Our efforts to help the deaf are often undone by the operation of gangs of deaf beggars who swoop down on a community with their false tales of inability to obtain jobs, thereby creating a negative image of deaf people.

They distort the true capabilities of the deaf and thus harm their own employability and ultimate adjustment. Millions of intelligent Americans have formed their concepts of the deaf as a result of a fleeting contact with this fraudulent begging racket.

I hope you will print this letter and help educate the public.—SINCERELY B. H. M.

Dear B. H. M.: I am happy to do so and I appreciate your letter. Thank you for writing.

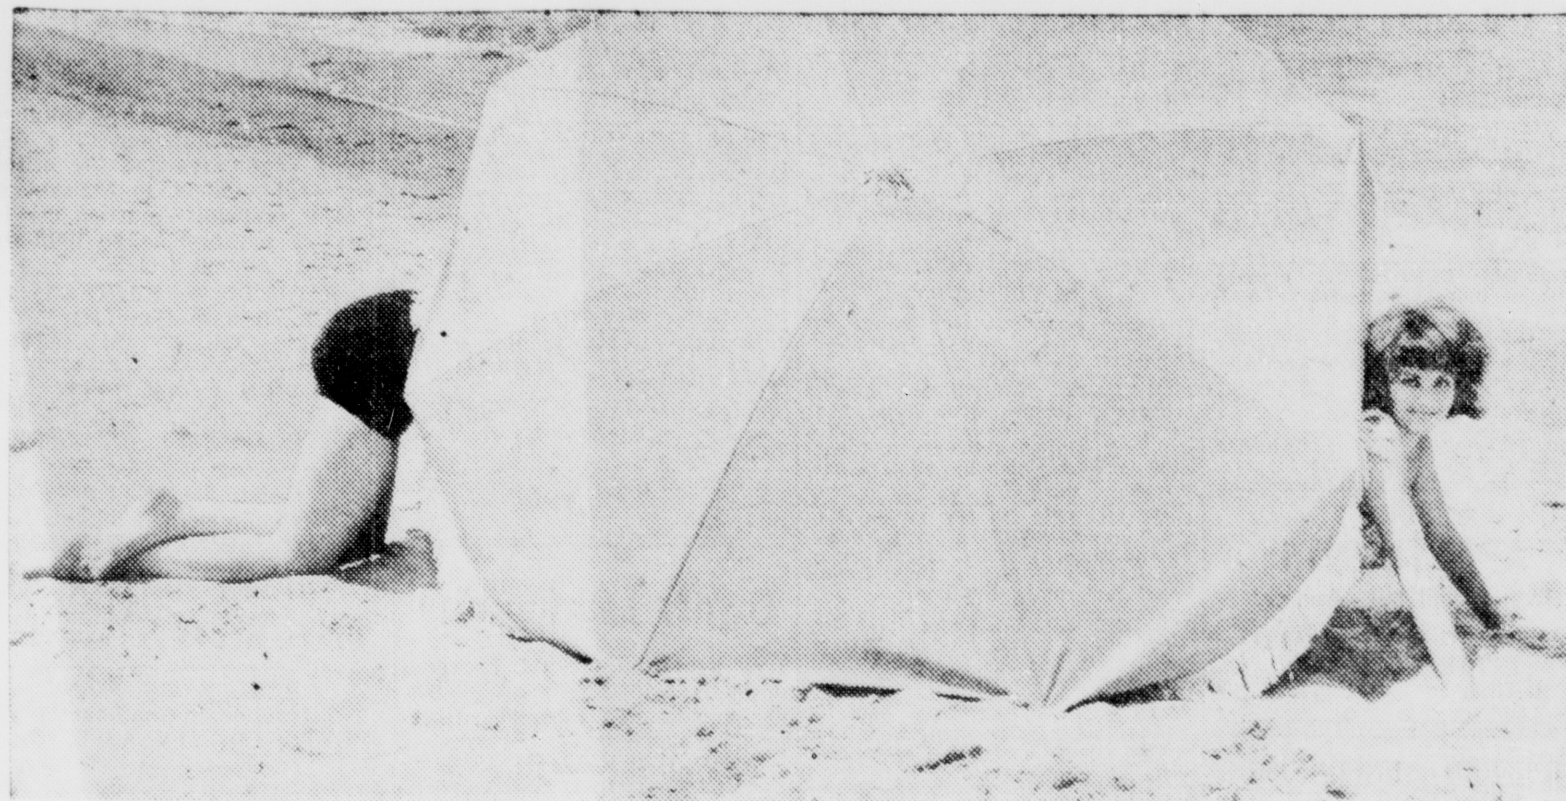

Dear Ann Landers: I have written this letter four times in an effort to make it printable. Please publish it, because I cannot receive a reply in the mail and I can't talk about this to anyone.

There are two women in our office. One is a divorcee, the other has never been married. They do not live together, but they have lunch together every day, take vacations together and spend their evenings together.

There are rumors around that these women have an abnormal relationship. I simply cannot believe such a thing is true because they are both extremely intelligent, refined, and the divorcee has two children. If the rumors are true should these women be fired? Please answer. You can see I need educating.—IGNORANT

Dear Ignorant: You are asking if it is possible that these women are homosexuals. The answer is, yes — it is possible, but not necessarily true. Should they be fired? No. If they are competent, if they mind their own business and stay to themselves it would be cruel and senseless to deprive them of employment.

GOING A LONG WAY TO BEAT HEAT—Even tall girls want to cool off on a breezy beach, but even Amazona don't grow this tall . . . or do they? This long, tall Sally on a Cleveland, Ohio, beach is indulging in a little bit of mild deception, or so the photographer says.

EPINAL, France (AP)—A bus carrying a French folk-dancing troupe crashed through a bridge guard rail and dropped 30 feet onto a railway track early today, killing 19 persons and injuring eight.

The performers had taken part in a European folklore festival at Senones, in eastern France. They were returning to their homes in the Perpignan region, on the Mediterranean coast.

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta says he plans to move Kenya toward a one-party system. Kenyatta returned Sunday from the African summit conference in Cairo and told a cheering rally that the one-party system makes for "faster national progress."

His Kenya African National Union—KANU—party has a 2-1 majority over the opposition Kenya African Democratic Union—KADU—in the National Assembly.

MONT GABRIEL, Que. (AP)—The Canadian-American Assembly says Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms should be allowed to trade with Cuba and Red China.

The assembly Sunday night recommended changes in U.S. laws prohibiting trade with an enemy.

The assembly, sponsored by Columbia University and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, brought together businessmen, politicians, labor leaders, educators and clergymen from both countries for a three-day meeting.

Woman Agrees To Make Full Restitution

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A Parkville, Mo., woman, who pleaded guilty to sending a forged check into interstate commerce, has agreed to make restitution of $10,000 allegedly lost by the firm, it was disclosed Monday.

Mrs. Mildred Faye Nelson, 48, was sentenced to serve a year and a day by Judge Arthur J. Stanley, Jr. The judge set a hearing for Monday after the learned restitution had not been made to the firm, the Morton-Myers Company of Kansas City, Kan. But an attorney for the company informed the judge Mrs. Nelson and her husband had agreed last Friday to a compromise settlement of $10,000, and the civil suit against her would be dismissed.

Hit By Red Fire

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Army aircraft—helicopters and planes—are hit by Communist fire at the rate of six aircraft for every 1,000 flying hours, a U.S. official disclosed. Most U.S. combat fatalities have been in aircraft.

City, Kan. But an attorney for the company informed the judge Mrs. Nelson and her husband had agreed last Friday to a compromise settlement of $10,000, and the civil suit against her would be dismissed.

Mrs. Nelson, who was office manager for the firm, will begin serving her sentence Aug. 17. The count to which she pleaded guilty concerned a check for $421.31. Two other counts were dismissed.

Motion Is Denied

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A U.S. district judge denied a motion by Charles Bruno, Kansas City bondsman, for a reduction of the four months sentence he is serving for an income tax violation.

Bruno, who began serving the sentence May 25, contended that the confinement has injured his health. He had pleaded guilty to false statements in his 1959 federal income tax returns.

Judge Floyd R. Gibson said Monday that while the defendant would be more satisfied if living at home "this is a common desire among those who are incarcerated and is obviously not a legal basis for a reduction of sentence."

Mrs. Webster Thomas, Tipton, was guest speaker. She is central district director. She discussed the point method for flower show judging, using specimens brought by members.

A short business meeting was held following Mrs. Thomas' discussion.

Plans were made to participate in the state and county fair flower show.

Mrs. Thomas was accompanied to the meeting by her mother, Mrs. Roy Finley, Tipton.
